Cal OES Coastal Region – Planned Event and Major Exercise

Monday, 10/06/14 through Tuesday, 10/14/14, the San Francisco Center for Humanitarian Disaster Response (SFCHADR), announces the return of Fleet Week to San Francisco. This year's program will feature several exercises, which include the delivery and demonstration of a United States Marine Corps (USMC) Shock Trauma Platoon at General Hospital, the 'Fifth Annual Senior Leaders' Seminar, the return of the popular 'K9 Heroes Program', and the exchange of best practices with San Francisco Fire Department's (SFFD's) Urban Search and Rescue team. Military medical and air teams will demonstrate the military's capability to enhance overall patient care capabilities within the city following a large-scale disaster (by invitation only).

Further San Francisco Fleet Week Information: <http://www.fleetweek.us/>

The Blue Angels will be conducting practice flyovers around San Francisco on Thursday, 10/09/14 and Friday, 10/10/14, from 1230 – 1600 hours.

The Air Show will commence on Saturday, 10/11/14 and go through Sunday, 10/12/14.

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought

- SOC / Inland REOC remains activated in support of 2014 Drought

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

Cloudy at the coast but sunny and a little cooler inland today as the ridge weakens. Warmer and dry conditions will persist late Saturday into Sunday as the ridge briefly rebuilds. Wet and cooler weather will return starting Monday night as a trough of low pressure sets up.

San Francisco Weather:

Slightly cooler weather is forecast today. A brief warming trend is then expected over the weekend as an upper level ridge builds near the west coast. A change in the weather pattern early next week will result in much cooler weather by midweek along with a chance of precipitation.

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

Sacramento Weather:

Above normal temperatures will persist through the weekend into Monday with locally breezy wind. A significant cool down and a threat of some precipitation will occur Tuesday into Thursday.

Hanford Weather:

Mostly clear skies with above average temperatures will continue for the next several days. A low pressure system will bring a significant change by the middle of next week with temperatures lowering to a little below normal.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

Onshore flow will result in near normal temperatures through the end of the week along with night through morning low clouds and fog for parts of the coast and some valleys. Building high pressure and weakening onshore flow will bring a warming trend through the weekend and into early next week. Cooler weather is expected for the middle of next week as a broad trough of low pressure develops.

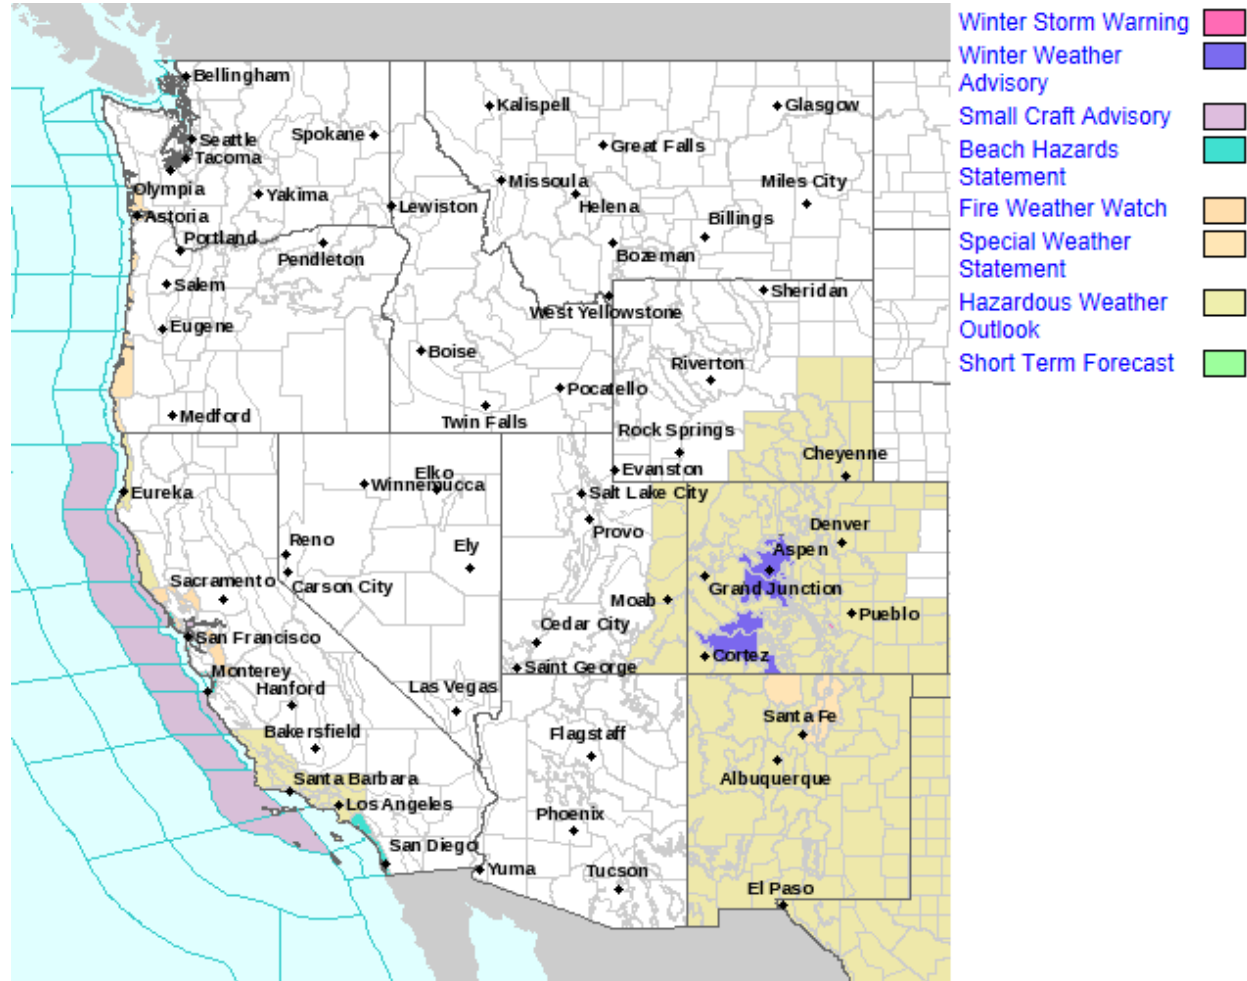

Extreme Southwestern California Including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

A weak trough over the southwest Friday will be replaced by a building ridge of high pressure that will bring warmer weather and a shallower marine layer Saturday through Monday. Cooling Tuesday and Wednesday as the high flattens and a trough deepens along the west coast bringing stronger onshore flow and a deeper marine layer as well as gusty westerly winds.

Southeast California Weather:

Low pressure will depart the area later today ushering in drier air and mostly clear skies. Temperatures will slowly climb back to normal this weekend into next week as high pressure settles over the area.
